

Meet Our Provider

Mark Ashamalla, MD
Chief of Radiation Oncology

Biography

Dr. Mark Ashamalla treats both malignant and benign conditions, integrating radiation therapy with immunotherapy, radiopharmaceuticals and advancing innovative technologies that enhance effectiveness, affordability and quality of life for patients. He received his MD with distinction from Sidney Kimmel Medical College at Thomas Jefferson University. He completed his internship in Internal Medicine at Albany Medical Center before pursuing a residency in Radiation Oncology at NewYork-Presbyterian Brooklyn Methodist Hospital, where he served as Chief Resident. He has earned recognition from the Radiological Society of North America and the American Society for Radiation Oncology.

Areas of Focus

- Breast Cancer
- Gynecologic Cancers
- Head and Neck Cancers
- High-Dose Rate (HDR) Brachytherapy
- Prostate Cancer
- Stereotactic Body Radiotherapy (SBRT)
- Stereotactic Radiosurgery (SRS)
- Thoracic Cancer

Languages

Arabic
English

Location:

The EHS Cancer Center at The Walsh Ambulatory Pavilion
19-20 Brookhaven Avenue
Far Rockaway, NY 11691

718-869-7101