

Meet Our Provider

Andleeb Sherazi, MD
Nephrology and
Critical Care Medicine

Biography

Dr. Andleeb Sherazi's dual training in nephrology and critical care allows her to provide an integrated approach to care for patients with complex, multisystem illness in both inpatient and outpatient settings. Her approach to medicine emphasizes evidence-based care, thoughtful clinical decision-making, interdisciplinary collaboration and clear communication with patients and their families. She received her MD from Ross University School of Medicine. She completed her residency in Internal Medicine and her fellowship in Nephrology at Brookdale University Hospital, followed by her fellowship in Critical Care Medicine at SUNY Downstate Medical Center. She is also a member of the American Society of Nephrology, the Society of Critical Care Medicine and the American College of Physicians.

Areas of Focus

- Acute and chronic kidney disease
- Continuous Renal Replacement Therapy (CRRT)
- Electrolyte and acid-based disorders
- Hypertension
- Kidney failure requiring dialysis

Languages

English

Location:

EHS Specialty Care at the EHS Clinical Learning Center

📍 19-09 Plainview Avenue, 2nd Floor
Far Rockaway, NY 11691

📞 718-EHS-DOCS (718-347-3627)