Our Team

Joseph Tarantino, DPM, FACFAS, APWCA
PROGRAM DIRECTOR

Thomas Lubeski, DO, FACOS, WCC, CAQ

Thuy-Trang Pham, DPM, DABPM, CWSP, CCA

Ramy Elattal, DPM, DABPM

EHS Episcopal Health Services
St. John's Episcopal Hospital

Get In Touch

718-869-5816

ehs.org

Joseph Tarantino, DPM, FACFAS, APWCA
Program Director
jtaranti@ehs.org

Ramy Elattal, DPM, DABPM
Residency Program Director
relattal@ehs.org

Marcella Fulton
Residency and Fellowship Coordinator
mfulton@ehs.org

EHS Episcopal Health Services
St. John's Episcopal Hospital

Podiatric Wound Care Fellowship

About Our Program

St. John's Episcopal Hospital's Wound Care and Tissue Healing Fellowship is a 12-month program beginning July 1. The program offers a hospital and clinic environment with on-site hyperbaric medicine.

Fellows are given the opportunity to work with various departments throughout the hospital, such as infectious disease, dermatology, and general, vascular, and podiatric surgery.

About St. John's Episcopal Hospital

- The only full-service hospital on the Rockaway Peninsula
- 240-bed community hospital
- More than 400 physicians
- Level 2 Trauma Center
- Teaching affiliate of Ross Medical School, LECOM, and William Carey Medical School

Authorized Positions: 4

- Must be a graduate of a three-year CPME-approved residency

Salaries and Benefits

- $1500 academic stipend
- $1000 conference allowance
- Hyperbaric Therapy Certificate
- White coats and scrubs
- Meal allowance of $110 per month
- 4 weeks of vacation, 12 sick days and 4 personal days
- Medical, dental, optical and Rx insurance
- PGY-4 level salary

Rotations

- Infectious Disease - 2 weeks
- Vascular Rotation - 1 month
- Hyperbaric therapy training - 1 week

Academia

- Bi-weekly wound care textbook presentation
- Bi-weekly case presentations
- Attending lecture series
- Journal and lecture series at NewYork-Presbyterian Queens
- 1 research project is required (quality consistent for publication)